Summary: On May 23, 2001, Brian Cragg of Goodin, MacBride, Squeri, Ritchie & Day, counsel for Cabrillo I, LLC and Cabrillo II, LLC, met with Belinda Gatti, advisor to Cmmr. Brown, in San Francisco. Cragg indicated Cabrillo's support for the draft interim order, except in one respect. Cragg explained that excluding generation units designed to meet peak load (peakers) from the proposed pro rata curtailment procedure could have the unintended consequence of resulting in less net generation than if peakers were not excluded.

Summary: On May 23, 2001, Carolyn Baker of Duke Energy North America (DENA), met with Cmmr. Bilas in San Francisco. Also present were Julie Halligan, advisor to Cmmr. Bilas, Douglas Kerner of Ellison, Schneider and Harris, counsel for DENA, and Brian Cragg of Goodin, MacBride, Squeri, Ritchie & Day, counsel for Cabrillo I, LLC and Cabrillo II, LLC. Baker, Kerner, and Cragg indicated their support for the draft interim order except in two respects. Cragg explained that excluding generation units designed to meet peak load (peakers) from the proposed pro rata curtailment procedure could have the unintended consequence of resulting in less net generation than if peakers were not excluded. Kerner also noted that the provision of the draft interim opinion allowing auditing of the generator's compliance with the curtailment procedure was unnecessary, since San Diego Gas & Electric Company and the Independent System Operator would be aware of the only aspect of the procedure that might require monitoring, a particular unit's level of operation when it is called on to operate under its RMR contract.

Summary: On May 30, 2001, Mark Fogelman, an attorney for Cox California Telecom, L.L.C. dba Cox Communications (Cox), met with Cmmr. Brown in San Francisco. Also present were: Robert Wullenjohn, advisor to Cmmr. Brown, Jose Jimenez, Acting Director of Regulatory Affairs of Cox, Lesla Lehtonen, Vice President of Legal and Regulatory Affairs of California Cable Television Association (CCTA), and Tom Bateman, Executive Director of California Communities Dispute Service. Fogelman stated that while the idea of employing Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) to resolve Section 271 and Section 709.2 issues was constructive, achieving that goal would be an extraordinary challenge. Fogelman stated that even if the Commission were successful in employing ADR, its doing so might run afoul of the independent Section 271 roles of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) and the Department of Justice, as well as the need to base the Commission's Section 271 consulting role and its mandated Section 709.2 findings on a full record and an accurate assessment of the state of competition in California. Lehtonen observed that Section 271 entry into long distance was supposed to be the carrot that would lead Pacific Bell (PacBell) to allow local competition. Fogelman noted the recent flurry of competitive local exchange carrier (CLEC) financial failures, and cited a recent FCC report showing that CLEC penetration in California was only 6 percent. Fogelman, Jimenez, and Lehtonen discussed the impediments to Cox's competing with PacBell. Jimenez explained that Cox would prefer to resolve its differences with PacBell carrier-to-carrier. Fogelman stated that Cox and CCTA would be willing to discuss ADR further, but expressed skepticism as to whether PacBell would ever agree to a set of unprecedented conditions and enforcement mechanisms that would be adequate to ease CLEC concerns and ensure fair and ongoing local competition in California.

Summary: On May 25, 2001, Rose Johnson, Government Affairs Vice President,

AT&T Communications of California, Inc., met with Cmmr. Brown in San Francisco. Also present was Robert Wullenjohn, advisor to Cmmr. Brown. Johnson explained why the Commission should reduce Pacific Bell's unbundled network element (UNE) switching prices to a level equal to the prices SBC has proposed in Illinois. Johnson further explained that PacBell's UNE loop prices should be lowered by reducing the joint and common cost factor from 19% to 10%.

Summary: On May 30, 2001, John Clark, counsel for Z-Tel Communications, Inc. (Z-Tel), met with Cmmr. Brown in San Francisco. Also present were Robert Wullenjohn, advisor to Cmmr. Brown, Tom Bateman, Executive Director of the California Communities Dispute Service, and, by telephone, Ron Walters, Regional Vice President – Industry Policy, for Z-Tel. Written materials (attached to the notice) were used. Clark and Walters addressed concerns that Z-Tel has with Pacific Bell's (PacBell) policies regarding the completion of intraLATA toll calls by carriers using unbundled network element (UNE)-P combinations and with the pricing of switching elements included in the UNE-P combination. Clark and Walters urged the Commission to consider correction of the intraLATA call routing policy and excessive switch prices to be prerequisites to favorable consideration of PacBell's draft application under section 271 of the Telecommunications Act.

- 06/01/01 A00-04-031 Southern California Gas Company, for authority to sell its storage field in Montebello

Summary: LATE FILED. On May 21, 2001, Marcel Hawiger, attorney with The Utility Reform Network (TURN), met with Trina Horner, advisor to Cmmr. Lynch, on a train of the Bay Area Rapid Transit somewhere under the San Francisco Bay. Hawiger stated that an alternative disposition of the gas to the one proposed in the Montebello settlement would not produce greater system reliability benefits because additional capacity for flowing supplies would be created irrespective of whether the gas was sold on the market or earmarked for storage or particular users.

Bilas. Peck stated that SoCalGas is very concerned that the draft decision would find a willful violation of a clear Commission order. Peck requested that the Commission revise the draft decision to accurately characterize SoCalGas' failure to remove the electricity platform from the Energy Marketplace web site as a misunderstanding, rather than action taken with "clear knowledge that it was operating without Commission approval.”
